

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A digital camera is provided with a system for capturing at least one image of a scene, a system for displaying the captured image, system for cropping the displayed image, and system for storing an uncropped portion of the displayed image. Also 5 provided is a method of controlling a digital camera including the steps of receiving at least one captured image from a photosensor, displaying the captured image, receiving cropping instructions for the displayed image, and storing an uncropped portion of the displayed image.

095459.091201
T02160 B554560